

Wee Winks Market...

was one of the first buildings to ever set up shop in Duck in 1976. This family owned business was built at the end of the paved road, which turned to sand all the way to Corolla. Jerry Davis, son of Miles "Wink" Davis, built this landmark store, the last place to grab supplies before heading north for Corolla's only 19 residents. The Wee Winks Market and Deli was rebuilt in 2013 to reflect a more modern Outer Banks. The new store no longer has gas pumps but gained a kitchen for preparing delicious sandwiches, salads and pastries. Still family owned but now by Nathan and Ninette Bearfield, the Wee Winks Market and Deli strives to supply locals and vacationers with all their grocery needs.
